

AI X Society

Dubrovnik Symposium on AI Law & Society

The Dubrovnik Symposium on AI Law & Society brings together emerging researchers in law and artificial intelligence for two days of intensive workshops, mentoring, and cross-disciplinary exchange. Designed for PhD candidates, the symposium blends keynote lectures from leading scholars with highly interactive sessions: research clinics, mini-presentations, methods workshops, career development panels, and structured networking along the Adriatic coast. A curated cultural activity in Dubrovnik's historic centre will complement the academic programme and networking.

Participants will receive personalised feedback on their projects, develop new methodological and conceptual tools, and build an international peer network in the field of law and AI. Instead of full papers, attendees contribute only a poster or a 5-minute presentation of their research.

16 – 17 October 2026
Dubrovnik, Croatia

by 31 March 2026

To apply, submit your expression of interest
(300 words max)

There is no participation fee.

Funding is available to support travel and accommodation for two strongest applicants.

UNIVERSITY OF BIRMINGHAM

INSTITUTE OF CRIMINOLOGY
at the Faculty of law Ljubljana